Major Anderson came down on one of the boats to separate the wrist she broke the other day in Memphis, passed up for the cotton.

Arrived from the Cincinnati Commercial.

D. V. Throop, of Evansville, has purchased a new side-wheel steamer, Ananda, from John W. Johnson, for $10,000. Within a few days it will be sold, another party offering to purchase it for $15,000. The owner, or his agents, $15,000. The steamer is intended for the Evansville and Cairo route.

At the little steamer Cordier, arrived at the Evansville and Greer, river trade.

Cincinnati Tuesday, to Captain Wolf.

The Gazette says that the Gray Fox will cost $20,000, to arrive in Pittsburgh, on her trip from Nashville.

She has a lively time after passing past the first line, by the bridge, who have been first into the water.

for the Atlantic. About one hundred men, nearly all taking effect about the clearing the cabin and Texas. The mate firing a Henry rifle, and caused only up his hands, and fall—perhaps escaping unhurt, they met the Atlantic and J. H. Baldwin, laden with Governor and advised their return to Fort Donelson. Four boats laid during the night. Geo.—The steamer Alhambra brought a hundred and forty-six hog-heads of tobacco to this river.

Regular packet, J. T. McCombs, leaves for the lake and way landings this evening.

ASHVILLE.—The Melnotte will be ready, ready to receive freight for Cincinnati, day.

Ambram, captain Bates, leaves for England, this morning, at 10 o'clock. The steamer Golden Era has been released from her present service, and goes to Pittsburgh. The Cincinnati Gazette, of yesterday, has the following:-

"We were on the wharf yesterday morning, and were generally credited, to the effect that the ship, the Lebanon, No. 2, Capt. Frank Davis, was to leave for Liverpool, had made a successful trip there, and was to return, meeting with no other mishap than the report comes from Cairo, and the probability that it may be correct."

DISASTERS ON CUMBERLAND RIVER.

Yesterday morning an abstract from the Cincinnati Gazette, of yesterday, was received, containing some items from the memoranda of the steamer Huntress, and was as follows:-

"These boats passed Palmyra or

Called for fear is now felt along the river, the circumstance is magnified in the local story. A large fleet has been seen several days at Fort Donelson, floating up the river. Thursday Col. Bruce below that the banks were clear, and to come up. The Atlantic got under way. Came boldly up as fast as it could. When it suddenly put up and started into the river, taking the boats to Fort Donelson that she had been saw a force of five hundred rebels. The truth of the matter was that to repair the telegraph line from the little coming up the river, five of the river bank to see her pass. They were standing there, one of them at the railroad disclosed his gun to her. She turned back and immediately she started on her return. The story to report to the anxious and worried Donelson. The operator at Clarksville by his instrument about the river, Harding's dispatch and Donelson's reply was admitted to Col. Lowe. He said that he had started up the river; had been alarmed; saw some five hundred rebel troops on the bank, and he believed that they were about to attack. He was then dispatched from Colonel Bruce, and the fact that there was no danger on the river, and for the part, was of rebel origin, designing to lure the troops into a trap, and their destruction. He said that the rebels had been told of the line, that it took place once time of their entry, and figures

Dear Sir, In reply to your communication offering us "Fifty cents and dollars on the receipt and right to make the Plantation Bitters for your hospital purposes during the war," we beg to say that we have no objection, considering it would cost us nothing to comply, and that otherwise we can derive no revenue from the Southern States is a liberal offer to our Government and our Uncle Sam, but we could not allow us to extend it, although we are glad to follow the sufferings of your misguided people.

We remain,
Very respectfully yours,
